Havwoods' Bespoke Herringbone Relik Collection

Havwoods introduces its premium Herringbone Relik collection for India's uber luxe addresses. The Herringbone Relik line is a stellar range created from reclaimed planks for floors, walls, ceilings and doors.

Every plank has been weathered under severe conditions, making it sturdy and ready for the Indian monsoons, extreme cold, sweltering heat and everything in between. These planks also make for the sturdiest and most gorgeous ceilings, cladding and doors.

Introducing the range, Mr. Aashish Poojari, Director, Havwoods India said, "The Herringbone Relik is one of our most prestigious collections. The world over, it has been a best-seller, finding its way into vintage European homes, contemporary city homes and modern restaurants and bars with equal ease. Most people refrain from using wood in India for fear that it won't withstand our monsoons, summers, winters and all-year dew."

He further Adds, "This collection is excellent for all these conditions as the reclaimed wood is weathered to take it all. We are sure the range will garner immense interest both from the residential as well as commercial segments. It's the easiest and best way to enhance the appeal of any property!"

Plüsch Launches The German Pilotis Sofas

Plüsch brings you the German based Pilotis sofas by COR to the Indian market. The collection has its generous proportions where the sofa is by no means a piece of furniture to be left languishing modestly against the wall. Pilotis is a place that reinvents itself for every moment of the day. Pilotis is designed into large, small, round, rectangular, black, white, and wood - always with a delicate metal frame.

The best features of Pilotis are the back extension which increases the height of the armrest and enhances Pilotis to be a great retreat. Pilotis is the sofa for the relaxed moments in life.

These Sofas are worked, refined and upholstered meticulously in order to attain the perfect symbiosis of versatility and comfort.

For the same reasons the Pilotis tables are so versatile that they easily combine with other sofa ranges its a landscape where body feels at home, where the soul can snuggle in warm blankets and thoughts can go unhindered on a journey to any destination.

Incidentally, the feet are available in black chrome as illustrated, glossy chrome and in a lacquered finish.
